

Sleep Cycle launches on Huawei in China, reaching over 100 million new users

December 8, 2022, Gothenburg - Sleep Cycle, the market-leading sleep tracker, today announced that it is now available on Huawei in China, adding over 100 million new users to its reach. Expanding to new platforms and becoming accessible on new devices is part of Sleep Cycles strategy to grow number of users and subscriptions.

Sleep Cycle has been available to Apples users in the region since before but is now also available on Huawei and in AppGallery. By launching on Huawei in China, Sleep Cycle reaches several new potential users on a large and growing market.

Sleep Cycles CEO Carl Johan Hederoth comments:

“By being present on Huawei in China we increase our reach considerably. There is a great interest for health applications in this region and Sleep Cycle is already an appreciated product with high engagement among our users. Huawei is one of the largest phone manufacturers in China and launching Sleep Cycle on this platform is just right. I am convinced new user acquisition will be positively impacted going forward”.
