

Sleep Cycle appoints new CPO and fast-tracks CCO; Petter Högländer and Peter Alsterberg to join in April

Gothenburg, April 8, 2024: Sleep Cycle AB (publ), a global leader in AI-driven sleep analysis, today announced the appointment of Petter Högländer as Chief Product Officer (CPO) effective April 15. As previously announced, Peter Alsterberg will join Sleep Cycle as Chief Commercial Officer (CCO) in Q2, start date now set for April 8

Petter Högländer brings a wealth of experience in driving growth in the B2C subscription space, having played pivotal roles at renowned companies such as Teemyco, Epidemic Sound, Record Union, Viaplay, and MTG. His proven track record in achieving product success and his expertise in subscription-based models make him an invaluable addition to Sleep Cycle's senior leadership team.

"Welcoming Petter and Peter to our team marks a significant milestone in our growth strategy. Petter's remarkable journey, which has included key roles in raising companies to unicorn status, showcases his ability to drive product success paired with commercial know-how. Peter's international experience and extensive knowledge of digital products and services will be instrumental as we move forward," said Erik Jivmark, CEO of Sleep Cycle.

With over 20 years of experience in management and strategy consulting across various industries and global markets, Peter Alsterberg brings a deep understanding of digital products and services to Sleep Cycle. As CCO, he will focus on driving partnerships, revenue management, and exploring new revenue streams that leverage Sleep Cycle's data and platform effectively.

"These appointments underscore our commitment to delivering user and stakeholder value. As we embark on this new chapter of the Sleep Cycle story, Petter and Peter's leadership will be crucial to realizing our strategic objectives and achieving targets," concluded Erik Jivmark.
